The Florence B. Wager Award

Nomination Categories and Eligibility

The Leading Eagle

The Bald Eagles that live in and around our wild areas are perceived to be fearless and majestic, with the ability to see clearly for miles. This award recognizes a community leader – in business, non-profit, government, or grassroots – who has led initiatives that have significantly influenced the life, health, and direction of our parks, trails, and recreation programs.

The V-Formation Flyer

Did you know Canada geese take turns flying at the front of the V-formation? That's because they all know the thing that matters is that they get where they're going. It is essential to support one another in the journey, and fill in where needed. This award recognizes the spirited volunteer whose dedication goes above and beyond the norm. They unhesitatingly give of their time and resources, organizing, developing, or enhancing the parks, trails, and recreation programs of our community. They are characterized by their consistent and dependable dedication to supporting, sustaining, or building the parks, trails, and recreation programs in our community.

The Tributary

The tributaries in our local watershed each have a job to do and an ecosystem they help define. It is at their confluence with the Columbia River that they contribute to a force that is infinite and grand. This award recognizes a parks and recreation department professional who has gone above and beyond their daily duties in developing or enhancing innovative programs that connect the public to parks and recreation in new ways, create new efficiencies to ease cost burdens, and/or secure and develop new grant sources or revenue concepts. This award is open to any employee working for a county or city parks and recreation department in Clark County.
